

The Appreciating Diversity Film Series

in collaboration with

PRAISE

Piedmonters for Resources, Advocacy, and Information in Special Education

Proudly Present

LOVING LAMPPOSTS

a film by Todd Drezner

Documentary filmmaker Todd Drezner explores two conflicting approaches in autism treatment -- the recovery and the neurodiversity movements. Through the experiences and accounts of children with autism and their parents, adults with autism, and the professionals and advocates who support them, Drezner gives us a glimpse of the world of autism and challenges our perceptions of those who live within it.

Steve Silberman, WIRED Magazine, calls it
"A Breakthrough Film...offering the fullest picture to date of the emerging neurodiveristy movement..."

The Appreciating Diversity Film Series is sponsored by

Piedmont Appreciating Diversity Committee,
Piedmont League of Women Voters
& Diversityworks

loving Lampposts
brought to you in collaboration with

PRAISE

Piedmonters for Resources, Advocacy, and Information in Special Education

Two FREE Screenings

Wednesday, October 22, 2014
Ellen Driscoll Playhouse
325 Highland Ave, Piedmont
(between Oakland Ave and Vista Ave)

6:30 Reception

7:00 Screening

8:30 Q & A with PRAISE
Representatives

Saturday, October 25, 2014
The New Parkway Theater
474 24th Street, Oakland (Between Telegraph & Broadway)

3:00 Screening